1. Brandi Beam -- Score: 18/25 -- Top Choice

30 years experience. Started cleaning at 24 -- it is her only career. Background includes contract cleaning services, Airbnb turnovers, and live-out work for multiple families.

Most Relevant Experience

Sole housekeeper at a 14,000 sq ft private home in John's Creek -- marble floors, seasonal decor, laundry, kitchen, vendor handling, professional floor polishing. She ran the full home independently with no senior housekeeper. Position ended after ~9 months when the employer was federally arrested -- unrelated to her. She signed an NDA and did not elaborate on family details, which is the correct behavior.

Why She Is the Top Choice

- Only candidate in this pool who has actually worked at 14,000 sq ft private home scale
- Correct cleaning methodology unprompted: top-to-bottom, cobwebs to baseboards, every surface
- Strongest emergency response in the pool -- real water leak example: shut off water, called owner immediately. Correct sequence: stop the damage, escalate, don't freelance the fix
- Disclosed criminal background immediately without being prompted -- strong integrity signal
- Genuine motivation: tired of 1099 contract work, wants one family and a stable home. Her words: "That's servitude. That's what I enjoy doing."

What to Watch

Her current work is contract/Airbnb turnover -- she will need to shift from in/out/done mode to estate-mode (continuous standards, daily routine). Key trial day question: can she take direction from Marcia and integrate into a team structure?

Chris's Two Decisions Before Scheduling Brandi's Trial Day

Decision 1 -- Compensation

She currently earns $30-40/hr doing residential contract work. Our ceiling is $30/hr. She may not accept at the ceiling. Decide whether to offer $30 firm, or whether there is any flexibility before investing in a trial day.

Decision 2 -- Criminal Background

Brandi disclosed two felony charges from approximately 30 years ago, early 20s:

1. Shoplifting by association -- Went to pick up a friend at a mall. The friend was shoplifting. Brandi was heading to her car when stopped and charged by proximity.

2. Credit card overuse -- Used her grandmother's credit card with permission but exceeded the approved amount. The grandmother attempted to drop the charges but could not fully resolve it.

She has been clean for 20 years, in recovery. Former long-term clients say: "If there's a million dollars on the table, Brandi's not going to take $1." No employer theft, no pattern. She disclosed without being asked. This is your call.

2. Shakita Baker -- Score: 17.5/25 -- Advance if Brandi Doesn't Clear

10+ years exclusively in cleaning -- hotel (Delta contract), Airbnb turnover, commercial, and independent residential. Largest home: 6-bedroom, solo. Honest about her background: "I never worked in a private home."

Strengths

- Correct cleaning instincts: toilet last, top-to-bottom, re-cleans unused rooms even if they look clean
- Proactive on supplies (flags at medium level, not empty) and damage reporting
- Reliable motivation -- single mom, needs stability, rarely calls out
- Comp within range: $23/hr, open to negotiation

What to Watch

Her hard day answer revealed hotel calibration -- she described a trashed place. Estate hard days are different (unexpected guests, last-minute prep, high-standard misses). Will need coaching to shift from hotel/Airbnb standards to luxury private home standards. Communication is informal and will need coaching on household professionalism.

Trial Day Test

Can she calibrate to estate-level detail? Speed and stamina across 14,000 sq ft? Comfortable taking direction from Marcia?

3. Zion -- Score: 17.5/25 -- Advance if Brandi Doesn't Clear

4 years cleaning experience. Owns a cleaning LLC with employees -- primarily commercial work (rehabilitation centers, 5,000-6,000 sq ft) and some residential. Planning to hand off existing clients and transition fully to this role.

Strengths

- Best articulation of cleaning standards in the entire pool -- unprompted, named baseboards, door handles, walls, smell, and the small details people miss
- Structured work approach: confirms scope, reviews the plan, takes photos, locks up, inventories supplies
- Lowest comp expectation in the pool: $20/hr minimum
- Genuine enthusiasm for the challenge

What to Watch -- The Critical Unknown

She is a business owner who is used to calling the shots. The question is whether she can work under Marcia's direction day-to-day without friction. This is the single most important thing to test on trial day.

Trial Day Test

Does she take direction from Marcia without pushback? Does she try to run the system, or fit into it? Can she adapt commercial habits to luxury residential standards?

4. Sherri Martinez -- Score: 16.5/25 -- Viable Backup Only

12-15 years running her own residential cleaning business. Primary long-term client: 8 years with one family -- strongest client retention signal in the entire pool. 3-floor, 7-bed, 4-bath home + full basement; cleaned their secondary Georgia property; traveled to Florida for them. Full-service scope: cleaning, laundry, pantry/kitchen organization, meal prep, errands, pet care, personal assistant duties.

Why She Doesn't Clear the Threshold

- No estate-scale experience -- her largest home is well below 14,000 sq ft
- Knows what clean looks like but cannot describe a replicable methodology -- instincts are intuitive, not systematic
- Scores below both borderline candidates on dimensions most critical to this role

Why She Is a Real Backup

- 8-year client retention is exceptional and hard to fake
- Private residential experience throughout her entire career
- Explicitly running toward the household staff model, not away from it
- Comp appears flexible -- may land at $25-28/hr if asked

If Advancing as Backup

Confirm comp flexibility first. Before the trial day, have her walk through a cleaning plan for a multi-room circuit -- her instincts likely exceed her ability to articulate them.

5. Tinuola -- Score: 16/25 -- Do Not Advance

20+ years in private homes, but the work is nanny/family support -- childcare, school runs, errands, meal prep alongside cleaning. The role at Belle is dedicated estate housekeeping at scale. That is a different job. She could not articulate a single specific cleaning process. Comp expectation ($30-35/hr) is above our range. Exceptional attendance (1 call-out in 20+ years) and strong reliability, but the experience profile does not fit. Do not advance.

Recommended Path Forward

- Decide on Brandi's two items (comp ceiling and background check). If both clear, schedule her trial day -- she is the clear top choice.
- If Brandi doesn't clear: advance Shakita and/or Zion to trial days. Can be run in parallel or sequentially.
- If all three fall through: Sherri Martinez is the backup. Confirm comp first, then advance.
